The National Professional Science Master's Association (NPSMA) and the Professional Science Master's National Office (PSMNO) are two distinct bodies with important and complementary roles to advance PSM growth and quality. The NPSMA is the professional membership arm and the PSMNO is the quality assurance arm. The NPSMA and the PSMNO have been increasingly working in collaboration to improve flexibility, services, benefits and finances of both membership and affiliation to accommodate a broad range of programs and institutions. The single invoice and description of benefits attached to this letter are results of our new cooperative approach. We are deeply appreciative of your prior association with PSM initiatives and welcome you to continue your involvement as we work together to build, grow and sustain the PSM.

Marilyn J. Wells, PhD, President, NPSMA
